Common Patterns of Success

After analyzing dozens of successful AI entrepreneurs, these patterns emerge consistently:

- Start with services (immediate revenue) then productize
- Niche down aggressively - generalists struggle, specialists thrive
- Build in public - share your journey to attract clients and partners
- Speed over perfection - launch fast, iterate based on feedback
- Stack multiple revenue streams - don't rely on a single income source
- Invest in relationships - partnerships accelerate growth 10x
- Document everything - SOPs enable delegation and scaling
- Reinvest 30% of revenue into tools, education, and marketing
- Focus on high-value clients - 5 clients at $10K > 50 at $1K
- Use AI for delivery AND for business development

The biggest lesson: speed of implementation matters more than perfection. Those who take action within 48 hours of learning a strategy outperform those who spend weeks planning by 10x.
